Second Leash Joins National Lifesaving Coalition

Through its new partnership with Best Friends Animal Society, Second Leash gains national resources and support to help more dogs and cats find loving homes right here in our community.

Roland, Arkansas – Second Leash has joined the Best Friends Network, a national coalition of over 6,000 network partner shelters, rescues, and support organizations committed to saving the lives of dogs and cats.

The network is a program of Best Friends Animal Society, a leading national animal welfare organization working to save cats and dogs in America's shelters.

"Becoming a Best Friends Animal Society Network Partner is an exciting milestone for Second Leash. It strengthens our ability to connect with organizations that share our belief that temporary hardship should never mean losing a beloved pet. Together, we're helping keep families and their dogs together while people work through life's most difficult moments." — Brandie Self, Founder, Second Leash

Network partners receive support and resources designed to address their specific lifesaving needs. They also have access to specialized information, tools, data insights, and exclusive grant opportunities and events designed to save more lives.

"We are thrilled Second Leash is joining the Best Friends Network," said Whitney Bollinger, Director of Strategy & Network Operations, Best Friends Animal Society. "Becoming a Best Friends Network Partner not only represents a strong commitment to lifesaving. It also puts the tools, support, and community in network partners' hands, which directly leads to saving more cats and dogs."
